The announcement was received with expressions of satisfaction by everybody, and when the infrarcial condition of the company and its established carning capacity becomes known, a marked improvement in the selling pirke of its shares is predicted.

After the meeting the information was released that when the $125,000 was paid there would still remain a surplus in the treasury of $209,000—a nest egg that is in no danger of being broken as long as the amount of dividends remains at the sum established yesterday.

mains at the sum established yesterday. Since consolidation was effected on the first day of last August, the average net carnings of the company have excreted $66.000 per month, or at the rate of about $675,000 per month, or at the rate of about $675,000 per year. At that rate, therefore, the company can pay 50 cents per share per annum, or 10 per cent on the par value of its shares, and build up the present surplus by adding not less than $175,000 every twelve months.

During the period which has elapsed since the payment of the first dividend of $190,000—No. 1—the consolidated company's has paid for the supplies and stores carried by the old companies, made many improvements in its equipment, both at mill and mine, installed its own electric power plant, and is now on the level road to great accomplishments.

SPECULATION AS TO FUTURE OF THE MONEY MARKET.

New York, April 15.—It was plainly to be seen today that the influential assemblage of professional operators in stocks which have led the great buil market of this year throughout was making an abrupt shift from the high-priced railroad stocks into the industrials of all grades, down to many that are in the stock exchange category of "cats and dogs." Very buoyant advances were effected in many of these, and the unfailing following of outside speculators which has quickly followed this leadership for many weeks past continued its docile response today. DECREES OF DIVORCE.

Important Decision Rendered by the United States Supreme Court.

Washington, April 15 .- The United States supreme court today decided a number of cases involving the validity in one state of divorce decrees granted in other states. The court held practically that in cases in which the decree is granted in states where the husband and wife have made their le gal residence, it is valid in any part of gal residence, it is valid in any part of the United States, but that in other cases in which there is no legal residence in the state in which the decree is granted, they are invalid. The opinions were handed down by Justice Gray and involved the cases of Afterton vs. Atherton. Bell vs. Bell and Streilwoit vs. Streilwoit.

11.27 In the Atherton case the husband obtained a decree of divorce in the state of Kentucky, where they had resided as husband and wife, after the will had left the husband and gone to the home of her parents in Clinten, N. Y. In his opinion Justice Gray called attention to and had stress upon the fact that Kentucky was the place of their marital residence, and he also brought out the fact that notices of the husband and specifion to response. The Kentucky court thereupon had granted the decree.

The question involved was, he said,

The question involved was, he said,

The question involved was, he said, whether the decree was walld in New York. He concluded that owing to the fact of her former residence in Kentucky and the fact that due notice had been given her, Mrs. Atherton was as much bound by the Kentucky decree raised, and in the Streilwolf case the same question was raised concerning a decree granted to the husband in North Dakota. In both these cases the decrees were held to be invalid, because neither the husband nor the wife had domiciled in the state in which the divorce was granted. In those cases the findings of the New York courts were affirmed.

In the Atherton case Justice Peckham dissented on the ground that the husband had been himself responsible for the wife's change of residence.
